Planning a wedding should feel like creating something unforgettable with your favorite person—not taking on a second full-time job.

You've probably realized that planning a wedding involves roughly a thousand more moving parts than the wedding inspiration boards make it look. You want a day that feels completely like you—less traditional box-checking, more authentic celebration. But you probably don't want the stress that comes with coordinating it all.

That's where we come in. We don't do cookie-cutter events, and we definitely don't do high-pressure sales pitches. We're here to handle the logistics so you can actually enjoy being engaged.

First thing is a Vibe Check-(Initial Consultation)

First, let's make sure we actually like each other. We'll jump on a quick, casual video call to chat about your vision, your non-negotiables, and what you want the day to feel like. This is entirely zero-pressure. It's just an honest conversation to see if our planning style aligns with your vibe and budget. If it's not a perfect match, no hard feelings at all!

Making It Official is next...

If we finish our chat and you feel like we're the right crew to bring your day to life, we'll move forward. We'll send over a straightforward digital contract and collect a non-refundable deposit to officially lock in your date on our calendar.

Deep Dive Interview will help us help you...

Once the paperwork is out of the way, the real fun begins. We'll send you a detailed digital questionnaire. This is where you tell us everything—your aesthetic preferences, your favorite music, the food you love, and how you want your guests to feel. It gives us the data we need to build a wedding blueprint tailored uniquely to you.

Let's Begin Planning...

With your blueprint ready, we officially launch into the planning process together. From sourcing the perfect vendors to mapping out timelines, we'll be with you every step of the way to make the journey collaborative, organized, and — most importantly—fun.
